

Dr. Gregory S. Paulson

Re: Manuscript Count (fwd)

To: Brandon T. Ward

---

Dear Brandon,

As of today, the number of Greek New Testament manuscripts recorded in the official list is 5,728.

I hope that helps.

You can access the INTF's database of manuscripts here: <<https://ntvmr.uni-muenster.de/liste>>

Please let me know if you have questions about this.

Best wishes,

Greg

- - -

Gregory S. Paulson, Ph.D.

WWU Münster

Institute for New Testament Textual Research (INTF)

Pferdegasse 1

48143 Münster

Germany

Good morning.

I was referred to you by the Center for the Study of New Testament Manuscripts. I am trying to find out an official count for the number of Biblical manuscripts and fragments. I have seen the count mentioned all over the place, but no specific sources. I am putting together a work documenting Christ's existence from non-Christian works, but also want to include the aforementioned note as well. It just adds so much credence to it.

I appreciate any assistance you can provide.

Have a great day!

Thank You,

Brandon T. Ward

World Events and the Bible

Dedicated to world events and study of the Bible.